There are only two things more disgusting than the proposed settlement between DOJ and Microsoft: one is the settlement proposed by the states not party to it and the other is that the suit was brought in the first place.

The very idea that the United States government should have been party to an attempt to deprive ANY party of rights to its' own intellectual property is disgraceful, disgusting and every other kind of "dis-" imaginable.

The only truly just judgment in this case is an order to have members of what they're now calling the "Liberty Alliance" strung up by their collective cajones., but that's probably not an available option.

Therefore, I respectfully ask for an end this economic roadblock and urge acceptance of the agreement submitted jointly by DOJ and Microsoft. The dissenting states and the economic terrorists ought to be told to take a hike.
